

FOR PRESIDENT IN 1888,
JAMES G. BLAINE,
OF MAINE.

Subject to the decision of the Republican National Convention.

"We always have the American flag above us and not below us."—James G. Blaine.

THE REPUBLICAN LEADER.

Blaine Would Not Refuse the Nomination for President.

LEWISTON (Me.), December 26.—A friend of Mr. Blaine, who has just returned from Paris, says that he left that gentleman in the very best of health, and enjoying himself in a quiet way about the capital. Mr. Blaine personally assured his friend that he never was better. Referring to the probabilities for 1888, the gentleman said, speaking for himself, that Mr. Blaine is not a candidate in the sense that he would accept a nomination if he had reason to believe any considerable number of his party opposed him, but he thinks that if the party in convention declares, with unanimity, that he is the man, Blaine will accept the nomination.

The interview thus continues: "I heard a story in London which I think is strictly correct. One evening Blaine was being entertained at dinner by a distinguished Londoner, and the conversation turned on the relations of Great Britain and the United States. One of the members of Parliament who sat by Blaine, good-naturedly criticised Blaine for the form of one of his dispatches to the English Government, when Blaine was Secretary of State. 'It seems at the time,' said the English statesman, 'that you were discourteous to England, when you said in your dispatch that the United States expects such and such things of England.' Mr. Blaine turned to his critic with the utmost nonchalance, and remarked: 'You forget, my dear sir, that I merely copied the phrase from a dispatch from Her Majesty's Government, sent to the United States in the darkest period of our civil war. The tables are now turned. Then, when we were in trouble, England expected my country to do such and such things. Now, if you will pardon me, the United States is in a position to quote the phraseology and send it back.'"

Will Prove Disastrous to California.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The tariff bill now under preparation by the Democratic leaders will not be cordially received in California. Many of the products of the State of California are peculiar to that State alone of all the States, and to remove this tariff from those would be a great wrong. Among the proposed tariff reductions on foreign products which California produces are these: Two cents from figs, 2 cents from raisins, 1 cent from plums, 1 cent from prunes, 3 cents from walnuts, 5 cents from almonds, 2 cents from hops, 25 cents a box from oranges, 30 cents from lemons, 20 per cent. ad valorem from limes, 20 per cent. ad valorem from grapes, 75 cents a ton from coal, 20 cents a gallon from wine, and to put lumber and wool and salt upon the free list. It will be at once observed that California alone is interested in maintaining a tariff on many of the above mentioned articles, and it will therefore be easier for the Cleveland bill to get support from Democrats in all other parts of the country.

Another Message Probable.

Randall said within a day or two: "There is a misapprehension as to the President's position on the internal revenue question, and he may deem it necessary to send a supplemental message to Congress on the subject. He does not oppose the repeal of the tobacco and brandy tax, and furthermore, he believes that the internal revenue laws are oppressive as enforced under existing legislation." If this is true, it is the most important piece of political news since the publication of the President's message. The language which Cleveland used in that document in regard to the internal revenue laws seemed to be about as plain as the English language would permit of.

Intelligence was received at the New York Yacht Club Monday by private correspondence that a challenge for the America's cup was on the way here from Colonel Jamieson, owner of the Ilex. The new yacht is to be a cutter eighty-five or ninety feet long on the keel. The ten months' previous notice required expire with this month.

The President of the Wool-Growers' Association of Ohio thinks that the President of the United States in advocating free wool is misinformed. It is rather a case of "none so blind as those who won't see."—Pulletin.

A recent order has been issued in Washington calling upon Chiefs of Bureaus in the War Department to recommend the character and quantity of records of that Department which can be destroyed. It is proposed among other things to destroy a considerable portion of the records of the Freedman's Bureau, which cover the important epoch after the war known as the reconstruction period. It is also intended to destroy certain portions of the manuscripts from which the war records already published have been presented. The worst feature of the case is that the responsibility of selecting what shall be destroyed is left to an ordinary clerk. There promises to be a big row over this matter, and there should be. The documents relating to events both antecedent, during and subsequent to the war, are of great interest to the people of this nation and should be preserved. We doubt not, however, that the same spirits who wanted to see the rebel flags returned would rejoice if all records of the War of the Rebellion were destroyed.—Sacramento Bee.

The Enterprise remarks:

President Cleveland intends to send a general message to Congress after the holiday recess, which message, it is thought, will embrace suggestions upon the report of the Pacific Railroad Commissioners, the fisheries dispute and the Chinese question. Cleveland will soon be known as the man of many messages. Let him keep on writing messages similar to the one on the tariff question, and the Republicans will have no cause for complaint.

The Visalia Times advises farmers who live at a distance from the timber belt, and have to haul their firewood, to cultivate a half acre of Russian sunflowers. The product of mines on the Comstock lode from 1880 to 31, 1886, is given at $324,779,404. The total bullion product of the State in 1886 is given at $8,090,000. THE DREADED SMALL-POX.

Eight Cases Reported at Sierra City—The Disease Elsewhere.

Notwithstanding the fact that our contemporaries say there is no small-pox in Sierra Valley, the following, from the Sacramento Bee, proves to the contrary: That dreaded disease, small-pox, is beginning to make its appearance in different portions of the State.
Dr. Tyrrell, the Secretary of the State Board of Health, was informed by telegraph to-day that there were four new cases of small-pox at Sierra City, making eight in all. There is also a doubtful case in the same town. In Sierra Valley there is a pure case of small-pox.
Dr. Tyrrell has information that there are cases of small-pox in the counties of Marin, Solano and Alameda, but he is unable to obtain satisfactory information in regard to the disease in Alameda county.
Regarding San Francisco, the State Board of Health is in receipt of no information as to the condition of the disease in that city, as the local Board of Health is guarding the small-pox there.
The State Board is preparing to take measures to prevent the disease from spreading southwest. An inspector will be stationed at Truckee to examine stage passengers coming from Sierra City.
"MONTE CRISTO."—Wednesday evening, January 4th, Horace Lewis' "Monte Cristo" Company will appear at the theater. Although practically strangers on this coast, every member of the company is an artist of high repute in the dramatic profession, and Mr. Lewis, the star of the company, an actor of rare ability, who by hard study and innate genius has won for himself a most enviable position in the front ranks of the great melodramatic character actors of the country. The company come to us with highest encomiums from press and public east and west of Chicago, and have been doing a phenomenally large business to most enthusiastic audiences in Oregon and Montana. They carry with them all the special scenery, accessories, properties, etc., of the original New York and London (Eng.) productions, including electric and magnesium light effects, thus securing the most startling realism of a spectacular description never seen outside of the largest metropolitan cities. Special arrangement will be made to enable them to use all their scenery and effects here, thus securing for our citizens a perfect presentation of Alex Dumas' mighty masterpiece. That this will be a great dramatic treat for the citizens of Reno need hardly be said, and none can afford to miss the opportunity of seeing this great drama presented on so unprecedented scale of scenic splendor. Reserved seats at the Postoffice.
After January 1st there will be only two rates in effect from points on the Missouri river to the Pacific Coast, which will be $60 first-class unlimited, and $35 second-class. This will be the figure on all transcontinental lines except via St. Paul to Oregon and Washington Territory points. The rates between Chicago and San Francisco will be: First-class, $72 50; St. Louis, $67 50; New York, $91; Boston, $93.

BEET CULTIVATION.

The S. F. Call says:
Mr. Claus Spreckles has published a circular in which he states that he is building a beet-sugar factory at Watsonville which will be in operation by next September. It will consume 350 tons of beets in twenty-four hours, and its capacity will be doubled in 1889. He does not actually say but he implies that he is ready to erect other factories in other parts of the State, provided, first, that he is guaranteed that twenty-five hundred acres will be planted in beets every year for a definite number of years; secondly, that he is assured of an adequate supply of wood and lime; and thirdly, that the localities are in railroad communication with San Francisco.
He gives a number of useful hints on beet cultivation. Beets should be planted in rich sandy loam and never manured. They should only be planted once in three years on the same soil; the other two years the land should be devoted to raising grain. Beets should be planted in rows fourteen inches apart; the plants may be six to eight inches distance from each other according to the quality of the soil. Beet seed is worth about 12 cents a pound. Mr. Spreckles has a lot of German beet seed on the way and will send samples to those who apply for them. The factories for making beet sugar cost about $350,000 each.
Mr. Spreckles has no doubt of the success of his experiment. The failure of the beet sugar factories heretofore established in this State has been due to their imperfect machinery. With modern improved machinery there is no doubt that beet sugar can be made here as successfully as in Germany.
The Boys Myth.
In all the ingenious stuffs we have perused about fairies, dwarfs, pixies, goblins, gnomes, flimflams, hippogriffs, brownies, giants, barghests, nixies, trolls, genii, peris, werewolves, lind-worms, volkyures, mermaids, sprites, ghouls, ghosts, scolds, onfs, imps, banshees, sirens, boggaris, deevs, wraiths, vampires, harpies, succubi, familiars, spectres, fauns, satyrs, demons, incubi, pigwidgeons and flibbertigibbets, not one iota, grain, jot or tittle of information have we been able to find bearing upon or appertaining to the most notorious myth of the present century—Ignatius Donnelly.—Chicago News.
These tickets will be unlimited, whereas at old rates continuous passage was necessary.

DON'T CONFIRM HIM.

The Enterprise opposes the confirmation of Lamar. It says:
"Is the man who said Lincoln was a clown, who says Jeff Davis was not a traitor, and who voted 'No' to the constitutionality of the war amendments to the Constitution, fit for the Supreme Bench?
Protest against the confirmation of Lamar is universal on the part of Republican journals. Surely, if it is deemed absolutely necessary to take a man from the South one might be found in that section better entitled to the honor.
One who is nearly 70 years of age and yet has never been a lawyer of sufficient reputation to have a case in the Supreme Court, or mention in the jurisprudence of the country, could hardly owe the honor Lamar is receiving from President Cleveland to any other circumstance than his position as a representative of the late Confederacy and of the Confederate idea of the Constitution.
The United States Senate should not confirm the appointment of Mr. Lamar, and we hope the Republican Senators will be governed by the popular sentiment and pay no attention to what they call Senatorial courtesy. The people are opposed to his confirmation, and when the sound common sense of the people is set in one direction it is invariably right.
Silver is reported to have been found on a farm in West Rutland, Vt.
